Janet Yellen is educated to the brim. She started her career teaching at Harvard from 1971-1976, then took at job at the Fed after failing to win tenure. There is too much information about her to include on this little card; however, there is enough room to tell you that she took $800,000 as a consultant to Citadel Securities for speaking fees. What did you talk about?

"[...] the high value Americans have traditionally placed on equality of opportunity"
