Infamous Con Sultan<sup>1</sup>

Born: 1953 Grad: Harvard

Year: 1975

Jeffrey Skelling figured out how to charge you on every part of the transaction; he made money before it, during it, after it, and the futures on it. He controlled the market price so he also controlled bets while earning fees on top. He controlled the supply and could squeeze it to a trickle and sell it back to you at any price you would pay. History has a lot to say about him.

“What is the difference between California and the Titanic?”
