Navigating the narrow halls and passages you follow the sound of what you can only assume to be stomping feet.

ECO-TERRORISM RADIO

Stimuli with human and nonhuman traits undermine our sense of human identity by linking qualitatively different categories, human and nonhuman, by a quantitative metric, degree of human likeness.

V-G, the most interactive experience ever, it brings out the best and worst out of all of us. Combat and controls to study, instead of trying to study for an upcoming test. Some people say V-G turns your brain into mush, but studies show that V-G, actually help people in the real world. Oh how I love V-G, they let me experience things and I can't ever usually get disappointed with sequels. V-G create more than fun times, they have also helped create new worlds. I'd like to thank you V-G for making me who I am.

Pathogen avoklancatx — Modified

Uncanny stimuli may activate a cognitive mechanism that originally evolved to motivate the avoidance of potential sources of pathogens by eliciting a disgust response. "The more human an organism looks, the stronger the aversion to its defects, because defects indicate disease, more human-looking organisms are more closely related to human beings genetically, and the probability of contracting disease-causing bacteria, viruses, and other parasites increases with genetic similarity."
