The last job that Susanne Cosgrove has before joining the DTCC was the head of the American Audit division at Lehman Brothers when they became the first Wall Street firm to start Mortgage Origination Loans. Make of this what you will, but since Susanne left in 1999 we've have three major Wall Street crashes (so far...); she's been at the DTCC for every single one since the dot com crash in 2001.

"This is one of two pictures she's got on the internet. She 100% knows some shit."
