

Plataforma Global

Covenant

The members of Plataforma Global assume, by their free and informed will, the commitment to guide their participation exclusively through service to the common good. They reject, in a clear and irrevocable manner, any intention of obtaining personal benefit, whether of a financial, political or professional nature.

They recognise that public recognition may, at times, result naturally from actions undertaken in the name of the organisation. However, they affirm that such recognition does not constitute, nor may it ever constitute, a motive or justification for their involvement.

The neutrality and integrity of Plataforma Global are safeguarded by the transparency of its acts, by the rectitude of its intentions and by the permanent ethical scrutiny of its own members.

Each member has the duty to identify, inspire and prepare a worthy successor, committing to guarantee the transmission of the foundational values, the independence of spirit and the ethical rigour that guide this common mission.

This commitment constitutes the moral basis of membership in Plataforma Global. It binds each of its members, not only before their peers, but before the civil society whom they propose to serve with loyalty, sobriety and conviction.
